The image is a composite of several screenshots from the KABS Online Submission & Review System website. At the top, a dark header contains the site's name in Korean and English, along with links for 'Log in', 'Register', and 'Languages'. The main content area is divided into several sections. On the left, there's a 'Log-in' form with fields for 'E-mail address' and 'Password', and a prominent orange 'Log-in' button. Below it, a link 'Register Now!' is highlighted with a red dashed box. A blue arrow points from this box to the 'Register' button in the 'Member Registration' form. The 'Member Registration' form is the central focus, featuring sections for 'Login Information' (E-mail address, Password, Password (again)) and 'Personal Information' (First name, Last name, Name in Korean, Country, Affiliation, Position, Phone No., Cell Phone No., ORCID). It also has 'Close' and 'Register' buttons at the bottom. To the right of the registration form is a 'Notice' section with a title '공지 (Notice)' and text about a new system update. Below the notice is a 'Verify Your E-mail Address' pop-up window with a message about receiving a verification email and a 'Move to first page' button. At the bottom of the page, there's a footer with the Korean Association of Buddhist Studies logo, contact information, and a 'Family Site' dropdown menu.

논문 심사 규정 및 게재 원칙

1. Peer Review Procedures

(1) The editorial board shall request three scholars specializing in related disciplines to review manuscripts that are presented at KABS conferences or submitted to the journal. Reviewers shall be selected based on Chapter 2, Article 4, paragraph 7 of the Korean Association of Buddhist Studies ethical guidelines.
(2) The three reviewers shall evaluate each manuscript and assign it one of the following four designations: 'publish,' 'publish after revision,' 'reassess after revision,' and 'reject.'
(3) 'Publish' shall indicate that the manuscript under review is fit for publication in the journal without substantial revision; 'publish after revision' shall indicate that the manuscript under review needs a partial revision, but such revision does not substantially affect the original content of the manuscript; 'reassess after revision' shall mean that the required revisions substantially affect the original content of the manuscript; and 'reject' shall be applied if the manuscript is plagiarized, does not align with the original mission and purpose of the Korea Journal of Buddhist Studies, or contains content that does not meet the standards for publication.
(4) Each author who submits a manuscript with an evaluation of 'publish after revision' shall be notified. The revised manuscript shall be published after confirmation of the required revisions. Each author who submits a manuscript with an evaluation of 'reassess after revision' shall be notified that the manuscript will be re-evaluated after confirmation of the required revisions during the evaluation period for the following issue unless the author fails to submit the revised manuscript, in which case the manuscript shall be rejected. Each person who submits a manuscript with an evaluation of 'reassess after revision' shall be notified of the corresponding requirements.
(5) Each author who submits a manuscript that is rejected shall be notified of the rejection.
(6) A manuscript for which the decision is to 'publish after revision' may be published in the following issue upon the decision of the editorial board.
(7) A manuscript written in a foreign language shall be evaluated by two or more members of the review panel who are fluent in the language in which the manuscript is authored.
(8) A manuscript presenting a translated or revised version of an article already published in a foreign journal may be published at the discretion of the Korean Association of Buddhist Studies. In principle, approval from the editor of the journal of the initial publication is required. When submitting a manuscript that is a derivative of a foreign journal article, the submission must be accompanied by the original version of the article and documentation of the approval to publish that contains the bibliographic data of the original article and includes a disclaimer confirming approval of the publication of the derivative work.
(9) The editorial board shall ensure that reviewers have three weeks to assess the manuscript.

윤리규정 및 규정운영

Chapter 1 General Provisions

Article 1 (Purpose) The purpose of the following guidelines is to delineate the principles of research and publication ethics to be followed in the course of academic activities specified in Article 4 of the bylaws of the Korean Association of Buddhist Studies (hereinafter "the Association") and to provide transparent enforcement standards.

Article 2 (Function) The following ethical guidelines serve as a framework for members of the Association to recognize the value of intellectual property rights in their activities during plenary sessions and external events; to avoid infringement of intellectual property rights or personal rights; to engage in pure, creative research activities under the protection of the Association; to refrain from dishonest research practices; and to improve personal and ethical behavior in research activities.

Chapter 2 Ethical Guidelines
Article 3 (Ethics for Authors)
1. When submitting a manuscript to the journal, the author must comply with the instructions for authors described in the "Peer Review Guidelines and Publication Policies."
2. Research misconduct (fabrication, falsification, plagiarism, and duplicate submission) is defined as follows. "Fabrication" refers to the practice of making up data or research results that do not exist. "Falsification" is the act of manipulating research materials, equipment, or processes or arbitrarily changing or omitting data, which leads to distortion of research content or results. "Plagiarism" is defined as the appropriation of other researchers' works protected by intellectual property laws, concepts or ideas, hypotheses, theories, or results without proper permission or attribution. "Duplicate submission" refers to the simultaneous submission of the same manuscript to two or more academic journals.
